

Quality, Environment, Safety and Health Policy

In order to promote Quality and the protection of the Environment, Neolith[®] Group carries out a series of measures that guarantee the implementation and maintenance of the Environmental Quality and Management Policy within the organization.

This firm commitment of the Neolith[®] Group Management is based on 7 lines of action, according to the set of values that are part of the corporate culture:

1

Product quality:

offer the highest quality in Stone Sintered applicable to surfaces of kitchen, floor coverings, walls and furniture, interior and exterior, as well as facades. Continue at the forefront of sector being pioneers in technology, processes, research, development, continuous improvement and sustainability

2

Satisfaction:

to achieve the maximum satisfaction and loyalty of clients, employees, collaborators and society, responding to their needs and expectations, and taking the necessary measures to maintain strong ties with each of them.

3

Involvement and environmental awareness:

through the establishment of programs and objectives that improve environmental behavior from the design of products and processes to the adoption of corrective and improvement measures that seek environmental excellence.

4

Management of human resources:

establish and maintain a system permanent continuous improvement, as well as training and information to employees and collaborators in aspects of Quality, Environment, Occupational Health and Safety, in order to promote or encourage involvement and awareness of staff in each one of these subjects.

5

Management system:

comply with legal requirements, applicable environmental and contractual to the organization and good practices, taking into account the requirements of the market and society.

6

Work philosophy:

maintain a preventive attitude on pollution environmental, detecting anticipated repercussions future. Encourage targeted initiatives reduce the impact of the development of business activity in the environment.

7

Interest groups:

consider the needs of our interest groups, valuing and taking into account your needs in order to meet your requirements quality and environment.

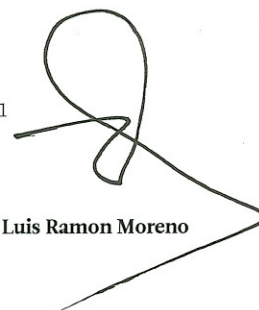

In order to achieve these strategic objectives, the management of Grupo Neolith[®] commits to leading and promoting the following actions:

- Periodically establish organizational and environmental objectives, as well how to review the degree of compliance with them.
- Provide the necessary resources and stimulate collaboration with external parties to help achieve the fulfillment of the objectives and goals set.
- Communicate and effectively implement the Quality Management System and Environment in the organization.
- Make special emphasis on prevention in order to reduce and avoid risks.

CIO & CTO R. David Bueno Tébar

Almazora (Castellón, Spain), on 21st June 2021

CEO José Luis Ramon Moreno